Education Recruitment Agency

PEAL is an international education recruitment agency which can help students to apply for enrollment into New Zealand secondary schools, tertiary educational institutions and PTEs (Private Training Establishments) to begin their next study journey in New Zealand. We offer a full package of services to meet various needs of students at different stages, such as the secondary school and university enrolment applications, travel arrangements, insurance, accommodation, and general overseas life coaching.

Study Abroad Counselling & Planning

PEAL advise and plan the most suitable study plan for international students through a unique cooperation model with various New Zealand institutions, and follow up all aspects of each application for study abroad.

Early Childhood Education

PEAL is actively exploring opportunities for ECE cooperation between New Zealand and China. ECE is growing fast in China due to the increase in pre-school age children and raising awareness of the importance of ECE. High-quality kindergartens in China are looking to integrate Western education and care philosophies and pedagogies in a Chinese way, and New Zealand's world-leading approach to ECE is held in high regard. PEAL is committed to connecting New Zealand ECE services with Chinese kindergartens, facilitating New Zealand ECE methodology in the education and care of Chinese children.

International Teachers Recruitment

PEAL facilitates Chinese Educational Institutions and international teachers to get together. We help Chinese Educational Institutions, starting from the early learning stage to tertiary level, to find high-quality English-speaking candidates to best fit their teaching needs. We undertake thorough checks of the candidates and promote suitable candidates that fulfil the characteristics that many of our Educational Institutions clients are looking for. PEAL brings teaching talents and Chinese Educational Institutions together to enrich teachers' global education experience and enlarge teaching capacities for Educational Institutions.

Teacher Training Program in New Zealand

PEAL has strong links with top New Zealand universities relating to professional development programs, actively participating in arranging tailored training programs for Chinese teachers from various Chinese institutions and different disciplinary backgrounds. This teacher training initiative is in line with the New Zealand and China Strategic Education Partnership Arrangement. PEAL is dedicated to supporting the development of the Chinese teaching staff's capability and capacities and facilitating stronger institutional relationships between New Zealand and China.

Educational Cooperation

Based on the current status of international education, China's education is being vigorously promoted to integrate with other quality education systems in the world. PEAL adheres to the principles of openness, transparency and direct interconnection, and actively encourages New Zealand education institutions to sign cooperation agreements with Chinese education institutions directly, hoping to further promote the development of international education.

1. Cooperation Institution in Running Schools

3. Pathway Programs / Credit Recognition

Pathway programs also qualify for credit recognition. PEAL can assist New Zealand tertiary education institutions and Chinese tertiary education institutions in establishing cooperation pathway programs.

For example, 3 years + 1 year + 1 year pathway program. The students who have completed three years of undergraduate level study at Chinese tertiary education institutions (3years) can apply to complete a further academic year of undergraduate study (+1year) at New Zealand tertiary education institutions (The program students must meet the New Zealand tertiary education institution's English language and academic entry requirements before starting the first year of study in New Zealand) (Chinese tertiary education institutions recognize the credits gained by the students of New Zealand tertiary education institutions and issue the relevant degree certificates). The students can then progress into a Master Degree (+1year) at New Zealand tertiary education institutions (The program students must meet the New Zealand tertiary education institution's Master academic entry requirements before starting the second year of Master study in New Zealand) (The students will get the Master Degree issued by New Zealand tertiary education institutions).

4. Credit Transfer / Pathway Courses

PEAL can assist New Zealand private education institutions to design their credit transfer courses, which are also defined as pathway courses. PEAL will also work with New Zealand state level tertiary education institutions with the credit transfer courses to assist the students to choose the most efficient way to enrol into New Zealand state level tertiary education institutions.

Study Abroad Safety and Training

To strengthen the international security awareness of the international students and enhance their self-protection ability so that the international students can "safely study abroad", PEAL provides unique study abroad safety and training. The study abroad safety training aiming to improve self-defense knowledge and facilitates students to build a personal safety management mechanism, which covers aspects including health, personal and property, natural disasters, transportation, and local legal regulations. The international students can identify potential risks, correctly assess risks, and enhance safety awareness through systematic learning. Let "pay attention to safety" no longer be an empty word.

Educational Assessment and Certification

PEAL, following the provisions of the education section under the bilateral Free Trade Agreement, signed between China and New Zealand, to promote the mutual recognition of academic qualifications and degrees between Chinese and New Zealand education institutions in various fields of education. As a leader in the industry, PEAL is not only committed to the combination of Chinese and New Zealand education ideas to help more Chinese education institutions to explore New Zealand markets, also to help the Chinese education institutions to obtain accreditation in New Zealand, to achieve mutual recognition of credits and other aspects of the Chinese education institutions and the New Zealand education institutions. Mutual credit recognition could help graduates from the relevant Chinese education institutions reduce the process and time required to apply to the educational institutions in New Zealand.
